CAPITAL OF RUMANIA BECOMES ARMED CAMP.

New Russian Offensive in Carpathians Results in Important Gains.

(BY WIRELESS AND A. P.)

ERLIN, Nov. 30 (wireless to Sayville).—The Rumanian defensive positions in the mountain district east of the Alt River now are more and more under the increasing pressure of Gen. Von Falkenhayn's advancing army, says the Overseas News Agency. After the victory near Tigrini November 16 the fate of the position at Curtea de Arges was doomed and there the monument of the late King Karl of Rumania fell into the possession of Gen. Von Falkenhayn.

In South Wallachia Gen. Von Mackensen's armies are advancing irresistibly, continues the news agency, while in Dobrudja the Bulgarians, together with Turkish artillery, repulsed Russian attacks.

Bucharest is declared to be changing into a war camp. Half the population already has left the Rumanian capital, according to reports published by the Swiss newspaper, the Berne Burd, and accommodation in the trolley cars is already limited.

Gen. Berthelot, the French military strategist with the Rumanian army, and the Chief of Police of Bucharest are reported by the Local Anzeiger to have issued an order directing the majority of the population of the capital, especially women and children, to leave the precincts of the fortress of Bucharest within five days. It is stated they will be transported at public expense to country places.

THE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE. (BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

PETROGRAD, Nov. 30 (via London, 4:50 p. m.).—The Rumanian troops, which recently advanced south of Bucharest, has been captured by Teutonic forces, the War Department announces.

The new Russian offensive in the Carpathians has resulted in considerable gains; it is announced officially.

Heavy fighting is proceeding for possession of the important pass through the Carpathians at Kirilova, where the Rumanian forces say the town is now within rifle range of the Russians. The official report states:

"In the region of the village of Kirilova, the Russians captured a strong position which projected deeply into our front. In the wooded Carpathians we gained possession of Kirilova, capturing the Germans and three machine guns."

"East of Kirilova, the battle is still proceeding. In the last two days we have taken about 30 prisoners and captured neighborhood posts. We captured thirteen machine guns, two bomb mortars, one mine thrower and two rifle guns."

Kirilova is held by the Rumanian troops, who are advancing rapidly up the mountain slopes of the Carpathians.

"The War Office, however, has ordered its troops to retreat and all along the line in the mountains."

BERLIN, Nov. 30 (via London, 12:30 p. m.).—The Rumanian troops have taken a stand along the Gheorghiu River, southwest of Bucharest. The War Office, however, orders its troops to retreat on this front and also all along the line in the north.

"On the northern and northwestern fronts the Rumanians have advanced along the whole line. We made progress in the Russo-Papal Valley.

"On the western front violent actions are proceeding on the Olt river.

"On the southern front the situation is unchanged."

The statement reads:

"In the forest of the Carpathians and on the frontier mountain of Moldavia, the Rumanians continue their attacks without obtaining important results. They suffered heavy losses and had to be contented with small local advantages."

"We, however, we are able to hold back hostile vanguards. In addition to the capture of Pitschi we also yesterday took Campulung and thereby opened the road running from Lemberg to Bucharest. The fighting there seventeen officers and 1200 men were taken prisoners and seven cannons and much baggage fell into the hands of the Rumanian troops. On the Vistula's frontier of Her Majesty's cavalry regiment took prisoner near Cirocavati a hostile column composed of mounted officers and 1200 men and captured ten cannon and three machine-guns."

Man-power.

GERMANY IS FOR LASTING PEACE.

Chancellor Tells Reichstag Nation is Ready.

Must Assure Existence and Future of Country.

War Minister Says British Killed Own Troops.

BY WIRELESS AND A. P.
BERLIN, Nov. 20 (via Sayville)—In an address to the Reichstag yesterday, in introducing the man-power bill, Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg again announced Germany was ready to end the war by a peace guaranteeing the existence and future of the nation.

In presenting the bill providing for compulsory service of civilians for war purposes, the Chancellor spoke in behalf of the cause of civilization, and the purpose of the measure. It was the Chancellor's sixtieth birthday, and his desk was decorated with a golden aneroid.

The war continues "with its destructive forces," the Chancellor said. "Accordingly our enemies desire to end the war. We have done so far what we could. What did they obtain what they wanted?"

"Our lines are unbroken, and Russia, through which a great change of events was expected, is now standing for what she did. God has helped us up to the present. He will help us further."

THE NATION'S DUTY.

The almost superhuman heroism of our troops, which cannot be explained by any other cause than clear conscience, since we were the first and only ones, were ready and are ready to end the war by a peace guaranteeing our existence and our future, give us moral right to such confidence.

"But, gentlemen, this right ought not to make us forget duty. Our enemies do not yet desire peace. They have not yet given up their command, and almost the whole world delivers war material to them."

The Chancellor urged the necessity of doing everything to manufacture the necessary war material, saying: "Hands that are idle assist the enemy."

The bill, he continued, had been discussed with the interested trades and in the Reichstag main committee, and was in harmony with the patriotic spirit shown by the whole nation since the beginning of the war.

"On behalf of the confederate governments," the Chancellor continued, "I assure you that the bill, which will bring us new strength and guide us toward victory and peace."

KILLED THEIR OWN.

The War Minister, Lieut.-Gen. von Hindenburg, assumed the chief role of war material during the early conflict. He said the heroism of the troops at the front imposed upon every German at home the necessity of providing the requisite materials and credits.

The enemy has suffered appalling losses from our artillery. For a long time our anti-aircraft French gunners stood opposite my guns and took on prisoners and on the dead, documents which mostly were incomprehensible to us. From them we learned how many death sentences were passed by the general on his own soldiers.

At the time of our victorious attack on the much-talented wire bridge at Armentières, when machine guns were placed, the order was given:

"Whoever retreats will be shot." But the soldiers who had fought the night south of Armentières and captured those stated they had received the order: "Every one who retreats will be shot."

To such an order is incomprehensible. The heroism and sense of duty of our soldiers justify our confidence that they will never be used again. We are surrounded by numerically superior forces. Dr. Helfferich, Minister of the Interior, said:

"The home army and field army, which are taking part in an invincible union. Undersigned the German soul are rich treasures, but they must be lifted to the daylight."

AN ECONOMIC WAR.

Dr. Helfferich thus quoted a historian of the war, who, during the war of deliverance, inspired the German troops—"The men who made iron it grows wants to slaves."

"It is as true today as it was century ago, as it always will be," said the Minister. "It is a war carried on not only with arms, but it is a economic war. The men who always speak of protecting neutrals, has, by their interference with marine supply system and blockade, cut off necessary imports and exports, and thereby inflict more damage than ever an army could do."

"In this economic war we, together with our allies stand all alone, though alone. Our enemies continue to import from across the sea. England, as her Chancellor the Exchequer has stated, has a budget deficit of $12,000,000, which is one thousand million marks a year."

"We during ten months paid the same sum for our iron and steel as France. Half the world at our enemies disposal."

"We have no trans-Atlantic liner to bring us raw materials. We must produce what we necessity can work. The earth yields what we need for food. But we must work, and once more have peace."

There is no question that it does not complete the mobilization of national work."

Performs the Ceremony.

TRY DIRECT WITH—EX-CHIEF DISPATCHER.

RENO, Nov. 26.——A Carson City afternoon Frank H. Norcom, chief justice of the Supreme Court, performed the ceremony which united in marriage Taskie L. Eddie, former Governor of Nevada, and Mrs. Daisy Monkman, one of the social leaders of Los Angeles. The marriage was the result of a romance which began over a year ago in Reno, where the Los Angeles beauty and the Governor first met.

Ex-Gov. Eddie is known as the man who practically put an end to gambling in Nevada by introducing the law of the State relating thereto he made more stringent.

The wedding was a very simple affair, and was considered as a surprise to most people of Nevada despite the fact that the engagement was announced at Los Angeles last October. No invitations or announcements were sent, and only a few of the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. George T. Mills, member of the State Tax Commission, former Auditor General, who is one of the Governor's close friends, was best man.

Others present were Mrs. Vernon Goff, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Bishop of Reno, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride and her sister, Mrs. Vernon Goodwin, arrived last night from San Francisco, having been here by Mrs. Eddie, who came in from the East yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie will make their home in Nevada, the former having large and valuable mining interests in this State.

Mrs. Eddie is the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Randall of Los Angeles, who resides in the Southern California metropolis, where she organized the George Junior Republic. Gov. Eddie is one of the best known and most popular men in the West throughout the West as one of the pioneers of the mining era in this State. He is an attorney of considerable ability, having practiced in the South prior to coming to the Southern Nevada. The couple left tonight for a short honeymoon trip to San Francisco, after which they will make their home in Reno, where they have a handsome mansion, recently erected.

Worthy Italian Manufacturer of San Francisco Dies After Dinner.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Giacomo Turgrassi, 37 years old, a wealthy manufacturer, was killed in the Latin quarter here today in a pistol duel with another man who said he would be allowed to be members of the police to be members of an Italian secret society.

Turgrassi, taking a walk after eating at his Thompson's restaurant, was approached by Joe Pedone, who, after a few words, opened fire on Turgrassi, according to the police. Pedone was joined by his nephews, John and Alfonso, and the three shooting. Turgrassi was wounded, took shelter behind a pile of empty turkey crates and from there returned the fire.

The duel continued about ten minutes. According to a special policeman, who said he witnessed the duel, young Pedone placed the muzzle of a rifle he had secured against the face of his man and blew off his brains.

WOMAN STARTS SUIT TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

BY A. P. DAY WIRE

PONTLAND, Nov. 20.—Alleged she had been deceived and mislead, Lucy Anthony filed suit for the annulment of her marriage to William A. Anthony and for $5000 for her maintenance. After living with Anthony until she was 21, she became engaged, the plaintiff alleged, when she discovered Anthony already had a wife when he pretended to marry her, so her marriage is illegal. She filed for a divorce in the court of first instance, prior to March 9, 1915. Anthony represented to her that he was unmarried and capable of entering into a legal marriage. They were married on March 9, 1915, at a church weding in San Francisco. They came to Portland in April of that year.

DISABLED STEAMER IS SAFELY IN TOW.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE)

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 20.—The disabled cutter Nels Nielsen, which went in search of the disabled steamer Niels Nielsen, but owing to an accident to her dynamo, was unable to use her wireless, and therefore did not locate the Nielsen, returned to Port Angeles last night on learning that the tug Goliah had taken the big freighter to tow the disabled cutter. The Nels Nielsen indicates that she considered the Nielsen out of danger. The Goliah picked up the Nielsen on the northward, Vancouver Island. The Goliah and Nielsen are expected to arrive here tomorrow.

FALLS DEAD IN CAFE.

Student, Son of Wealthy Rancher, Is Stricken in Chinese Restaurant

Where He had Gone for a Thanksgiving Meal.

Robert C. Duff, 21 years old, student at Stanford, son of oilman and son of J. H. Duff, wealthy rancher of Reddick, fell dead early last evening in a Chinese restaurant where he had gone with two students friends to have a Thanksgiving dinner of Chinese noodles. His failure is thought to have been the cause of the sudden tragedy.

The young man came to Los Angeles from Stanford and entered business college. He was pleasant and affable, and made friends easily. While here he lived in room at No. 512 West Third street.

A student who complained to friends that he was failing ill, and remained in his rooms. Yesterday afternoon R. H. Tiersan and E. V. D. Ross, fellow-students, called and, finding him better, suggested they go to Chinatown for a dish of noodles.

The trio had hardly settled them at their table in the Chinese restaurant at Alameda and Main, chessult street, when young Duff half rose from his chair and pitched headlong on the floor. He was dead within a few moments. His body is at the button moment waiting instructions from the father in Reddick.

POWDER OFFICIAL
PICKS OUT CAPLAN.

IDENTIFIES HIM AS DYNAMITE PURCHASER AT GIANT.

Assistant Superintendent Phillips also says Schmidt was picked up by McNamara. Declares Friends of Both Men Attempted to Prevent Him from Testifying.

At Wednesday's session of the dynamite trial Asst. Sup't Phillips of the Giant Powder Company's picked out David Caplan as one of the trio who came there in September, 1916, and bought the dynamite which was used to blow up the Times Building.

Not only Caplan, but Schmidt was identified when brought over to Judge Willis' court for a few minutes yesterday. The defense lawyers of Schmidt and Caplan, friends apparently of the two men approached him and offered him almost any kind of protection if he would agree to testify or fail to recognize the men when put on the stand as a witness. This offer he indignantly refused.

In his description of Caplan he declared the defendant has aged slightly, and his hair has turned gray, but otherwise he is the same man. He has a heavy load about his shoulders. At that time Caplan had several days' growth of beard. He was as active as Schmidt and J. E. McNamara, the thief of whom he noticed particularly.

District Attorney Keyes considers the testimony of Phillips of the greatest importance, insisting that Schmidt was the most positive of any of the witnesses in the trial of that defendant. J. H. Asselley, an employee at the plant, was unable to identify the man on stand for only a few moments long enough to tell about the goods turned over to the trio, none of whom he noticed particularly.

On Wednesday, Mr. Blakeley entered judgment for $100 against Attorney Appel, fined for contempt of court on the previous day because of the manner in which he addressed the District Attorney.

Unless Appel pays the fine it will stand as a lien against his property, and can be collected by the county when the amount is paid with interest.

Happy Reunion of Two Long Apart.

Lynn F. Reynolds and son David John, who was the bone of contention between father and mother in divorce proceedings, three years ago, but was reunited with both when the two were rowed yesterday.

Happy.

THREE REUNITED WHEN DIVORCED PAIR WED.

CELBRATING Thanksgiving Day by the re-enactment of the love of the sweethearts of his youth and his beautiful 3-year-old boy, David John, Lynn F. Reynolds was reunited with her son in marriage at his home, No. 524 Calvert Street, with his former wife, Mrs. Louise Lawler Reynolds of Denver.

The baby boy did not realize the importance of the occasion, nor that he has in any way replaced his mother in the heart of his father, Dr. H. P. McClellan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, had pronounced his father and mother man and wife again.

Witnessing the wedding were Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds, Miss Hazel Reynolds, mother and sister of the bridegroom; J. H. Lawler, wealthy manufacturer; Dr. David, and the bride's father; Colin Chase, a movie-picture star and close friend of Mr. Reynolds, and a couple of relatives.

The bride, wearing a tailored suit of Burgundy velvet, joined Mr. Reynolds in the living-room for the lighting of their torch. Soon after they had for the second time been pronounced man and wife, they sat down to a happy Thanksgiving dinner, prepared by Mr. Reynolds' mother.

In November five years ago that Lynn F. Reynolds, then a youth of 22 years of age, ran away and married Miss Louise Lawler, a prominent Denver society girl, two years before their wedding was robbed of its brilliant appointments, because they kept their intentions secret, it was chronicled in the Rocky Mountain capital as one of the most exclusive marriages in exclusive social circles.

With a good business, netting Mr. Reynolds $4000 a year, they continued to go the pace that had been accustomed to them and the result in financial crash for the young couple.

Soon other things came up to add to their unhappiness, which led them into the divorce court less than two years after their marriage.

At this time the baby, David John, was 2 months old and the ideal of both his young mother and father.

So the sacred tie of parenthood had come to an end, a secret agreement that if the father would not insist they would marry each other again.

He did and they did.

Startling.

CATCH A TARTAR.

Two Masked Men Hold Up Leisurely Traveler, but get Hot Reception and are Pursued with Barking Revolver as a Speed Trap.

Albert Hughes was driving home in leisurely fashion early yesterday morning when a car with two men in masks approached him on the Washington Boulevard near the Playa del Rey road junction. They ordered him to throw up his hands and were surprised to have one of the bandits come forth with a barking revolver.

They fled toward Venice. Mr. Hughes followed, and at an all-night garage stopped to telephone to the police office and the Venice police of what had happened. He stated that one of the men had been hit, but despite this the bandits made good their escape.

Surprise.

SHOT SCARES AUTOIST.

Young Duck Hunter Seeks Help for Stalled Car by Firing a Gun, but Passes by Mistakes Them for Bandits and Spends to Tell Sheriff.

Believing the two motorcyclists who fired a shotgun as he drove toward them were hold-up men, G. A. Anderson, with offices in the C. W. Woods Roberts Building in the Sheriff's office, yesterday morning and told of how he had outsmarted them and gained safety. He then telephoned to the police, hurried to the vicinity of Burbank, where the bandits were supposed to have operated, and much to their surprise found them still in the same place. They were the youthful brothers, Arthur and Bert Johnson of Los Angeles, who had started for Elizabeth Lake to do their duck shooting, only to have their machine break down.

Desiring to attract the attention of the passing car, they fired their gun, but instead of having the man stop, he instead of having the gun put on all speed and dash by and homeward. Investigation of their story was substantiated.

BLAZE SOUTH'S TRADE ROUTES.

Trained of Cement for Pers Slowed Aboard Japanese Liner.

Meaning the blazing of a new trade lane south for Los Angeles freight, a whole train-load of barreled cement was stowed in the hold of the Japanese freight liner Ikkoman Maru at the harbor yesterday, consigned to Callao and another port on the far Peruvian coast of South America.

The consignment, which totals 1200 tons, is from the plant of the California Portland Cement Company at Colton and was hauled through here yesterday over the Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric.

"It is our first, and will be this city's biggest, shipment to South America," said an official of the cement company yesterday. "It will mean much, I believe, toward encouraging Los Angeles merchants to look to the south and South Americans to look to us."

SCORES ALL JAILS AS IDLENESS DENS.

POLICE JUSTICE WHITE TELLS JOVIANS OF ABUSES.

Baffles All Penal Institutions Should be Located on Farms While All Convicts Should be Segregated and Put to Profitable, Remunerative Work.

Jails, both city and county and throughout the State, were severely arraigned yesterday by Police Justice White in the principal address before the Jovian Electrical League at its monthly dinner Wednesday in Johnnie's Tavern.

"Jails are dens of idleness," said Justice White. "Women infected with terrible diseases are compelled to associate with other women awaiting trial on charges other than sexual, and the same towels are used in the same beds and the same conveniences. It is a terrible penalty the public exacts of a person to share quarters with a person of a crime, to force them to share quarters with all sorts of characters."

Police Judge White responded to the toast, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" "Equal and exact justice has been the passion of mankind of human souls," he said. "It is the dream of the philosopher, the aim of the law-giver, the endeavor of the judge and the ultimate test of every government and every civilization."

"Two things are to be considered in handling a criminal. His reformation and the protection of society. I do not believe in the reflected punishment meted out to the family of an offender. The State appropriate $60 for every criminal offense to prison. It does not not appropriate one cent for the man under probation. It leaves him to return to his old haunts and the former associations which caused him to fall."

"I believe the man punished by a jail or prison sentence should be put to work. He should create some article that is necessary in other State institutions."

"A certain amount of pay should be allotted for him. Part of this pay should be sent to the relief of his wife and children. It is a good idea to provide for his wife and children out of school. It is a very serious thing to send a man to jail."

Concluding his remarks, the judge declared that the city should provide an industrial home for women, built on the cottage plan, so the women can be segregated according to their crimes and splitting headaches, stuffy from cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphate.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowel the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into it.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleanses out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks.

Those who have a cold with limestone phosphate will cool very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to relieve anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation.

Tell it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

their physical health. Men should also receive discriminating treatment on a farm. All convicts should be placed at productive and remunerative work.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LECOUCREUR HELD YESTERDAY.

Widow of Early County Surveyor and Pioneer Bank Official Came Here During Civil War Days—Was Guiding Spirit in El Cajon Falls and Other Charities.

Solemn requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Josephine Romane LeCouvreur, noble worker in the ranks of charity, who died Monday, was celebrated at St. Vincent's Church at 10 a.m. yesterday.

Mrs. LeCouvreur was the widow of the late Frank LeCouvreur, former County Surveyor, and at one time was a member of the Board of Engineers and Merchants National Bank. She came to Los Angeles in 1881, and was one of the first to volunteer her services as a nurse in the smallpox epidemic of the early 1890s.

Her husband left her possessed of a ample fortune, a large portion of which she devoted to the relief of the poor and sick. She was a member of the Good Samaritan Society.

SOCIETY.

Two visitors to the city, the Baroness Vera de Ropp and Mrs. Elliot Palmer, are to share honors Monday afternoon at a to which Mrs. Stephen Raymond of the Bryson is to give for 100 or more guests.

The afternoon is to be semi-informal. Among those who will pour in there are Mrs. Thomas Cole of the Franklin, who is the house guest of Mrs. Harry Dana Lombard at the latter's Beverly Hills estate, and Mr. Seymour Thomas.

Mr. Palmer, whose husband is Count at Madrid, is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Ham, who recently assumed one of the leading roles in the Amateur Players' initial production of "The Merchant."

The visitors are coming in for social recognition.

To Visit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay King are in Lancaster, where they journeyed to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whidden and Latimer.

Informal Dancing Party.

A hundred guests will participate tonight in an informal dancing party to be given by Mrs. A. P. Kennedy of No. 1710 Wilshire Street, who has secured an excellent orchestra and other accompaniments to insure a successful event.

At San Jacinto.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Woodhead of the Bryson, with their young daughters, Florence and Charlotte, spent Thanksgiving with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Warren. The family is to stay over the week-end.

Prepared Party.

With red cards and wedding bells strung about the rooms, which were abloom with red carnations, Miss Atala Brownling of Long Beach and Mrs. E. M. Jackson recently gave a "Cinderella" in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Powers, who has secured an excellent orchestra and other accompaniments to insure a successful event.

B EATS SUICIDE.
A local man whose wife was divorced from him because of his failure in business went to work and made good, courted the young woman again and married her on Thanksgiving Day. That method has the suicide route beaten a thousand miles.

NOT NECESSARILY.
Jacob Schiff says that the chief temptation of young men is young women. Perhaps so, sometimes, but qualify your statement, Jacob, qualify it just a little. Let it be willingly admitted that the female of the species is forever attractive, but as to her malign influence, well, "Let it not thus be thought of womanhood—Think, we had mothers."

A S IT WILL BE.
In New Orleans the price of admission to a moving-picture theater is one good sound bop. The plan is not new. Chicago adopted that method some time ago. First thing you know a man will be taking his family to a movie house, shoving a Hubbard squash through the box office window and demanding his two onions change.

T HE DREAMER.
In this practical age in which "efficiency" is the slogan of mankind and the world is mad with the idea of achievement, the dreamer still has his good place and dreams are still the seeds of life from which great actions grow. But let not your dreams confuse your waking hours nor interfere with the work at hand. Dreaming is worth while, but when you have dreamed forget it and go to work.

A PEACE SUGGESTION.
A distinguished diplomat claims that President Wilson could bring about an armistice in the European conflict if he cared to do so. However, the President does not seem to consider that the opportune time has arrived for any direct movement on his part toward securing even a temporary world peace. Is it possible for the people of the United States to do something in the interest of humanity that their chief representative in the White House hesitates to attempt? Julius J. Hecht of Los Angeles believes that the time is ripe for the instigation of such a movement by the real rulers of this country, the common people. His plan is to have the Mayors of every city in the United States send, on Christmas Day, a cablegram of peace and goodwill to each of the heads of the warring nations. Every message should contain a request urging the recipient to appoint a representative to meet at The Hague with representatives of all the other powers in order to discuss the terms upon which their respective governments would be willing to lay down their arms. This scheme, according to Mr. Hecht, would not necessitate the calling of an armistice nor would it interfere in any manner with the plans and operations of the different armies. It would merely be a step, however insignificant, toward the establishment of peace and would at least give the foreign governments a definite idea as to the attitude which the people of the most powerful neutral nation entertain in regard to the European conflict and the nations engaged therein. Mr. Hecht's plan is worthy of consideration.

THE RIGHTS OF UNORGANIZED WORKERS.

Reading about conspicuous doings in the national capital, one might believe that the government had ceased to be one of the people by the people and for the people, and had become instead, one of, for and by organized labor.

There was a conference of President Wilson and the chief officers of the railroad brotherhoods. The brotherhood officers were admitted to conference with Atty.-Gen. Gregory, Solicitor-General Davis, and other officials of the Department of Justice.

However, these incidents constitute only one phase of the situation. The joint committee of Congress which was appointed to look into the problems of the railroad business will, in the course of its hearings, study every feature of the transportation situation. It is promised. So then it may be presumed that before that committee represents of all the rest of the people—the holders of shares who own the railroads, the holders of bonds, who have loaned their money to the railroads, and the shippers and the traveling public—will have to be heard and to present and bring to attention the recently neglected fact that they too have rights which are entitled to regard and protection.

Let it be admitted that the privilege of workers to strike, that is, to refuse for an indefinite time to do the work at which they have been employed and by which they gain their livelihood, may not be arbitrarily forbidden or restricted; then the question yet remains whether that privilege is to be regarded as more precious than the opportunity for gainful employment.

Strikes and activities of some labor leaders might be regarded as evidence that they regarded the privilege not to work as infinitely more important than the right to work.

That attitude naturally does not appeal to the large majority of workers in the United States who are unorganized and who have always regarded the opportunity to secure well-paid employment as the greatest blessing, and deemed their duty to their wives and children to take full advantage of it. What about their rights, the rights of the great majority?

SAN FRANCISCO'S STEP FORWARD.
Seeking to mitigate the evil effects of direct legislation, the city of San Francisco has adopted a charter amendment doubling the number of signatures required for initiatory and referendary measures. This is a step in the right direction and San Francisco is to be commended that its citizens have evinced a desire for a return to sanity in legislative regulation. But it is not enough; direct legislation is like the devil's grass that infests our southern gardens and lawns; it may be hampered by cutting off the tops but it can never be eradicated while the roots are permitted to remain.

California has experimented for six years with direct legislation, some of its municipalities for a still longer time. The producers of the State have been compelled to spend on the average a million dollars a year to defeat dangerous measures proposed by radicals, fanatics and rogues. But a single initiatory act has become a law—that is the bill just passed which prohibits members of the Legislature from holding other salaried State jobs. Public opinion could have easily forced such a measure through the Legislature. A dozen other initiatory acts have been forced to a vote. Some were attacks on the property or the liberty of individuals, some would have brought back the pool-rooms and the rail birds; some would have destroyed the credit of the State and ruined financially at least one-third the population. When the red-light abatement law passed the Legislature its operation was held up for two years through paid referendary legislation. Compulsory wage scales were proposed that would have wrecked half the industries of the State.

When it was proposed to incorporate the initiative in our State Constitution The Times protested. Not content with the platitudes of a few direct legislation fanatics it scoured data from those countries of Central Europe where the initiative had been in use during modern times. It discovered that Poland had tried the experiment of direct legislation for 100 years, and at the end of that time the state was dismembered by less "progressive" neighbors and ceased to exist as an independent nation. It found that Switzerland had experimented with the initiative for sixty years. During that time just one initiatory law was written into the constitution of Switzerland. That law was one of the weapons used to drive orthodox Jews from Switzerland; by its provision, to stay or prepare kosher meat is a penal offense.

But our pink tail reformers asserted that it would be different here, that it was the one sure method to increase the efficiency and reduce the expense of State, county and municipal government. In our cities and in the State government direct legislation has had a fair trial. It has brought dozens of needless special elections that have cost hundreds of thousands of dollars in direct taxes and tens of millions in time and money necessary to combat whimsical, vicious and venal measures. A single law which public opinion would have forced through the Legislature is the only result achieved:

All just and equitable laws of history have been the result of a compromise, of deliberation and debate in which all sides have an opportunity to be heard. Under the system of direct legislation a little coterie of radicals or fanatics—sometimes rogues—get together, frame a bill to their liking and by paying ten cents a name get enough signatures to force it to be voted at a general or special election. Getting it on the ballot is simply a financial transaction. It cannot be modified but must be submitted as proposed. The ten-year record of some of our cities and the six-year record of our State show that in almost every instance passion and not reason is responsible for these initiatory measures. Some one has said that a fool is born every minute: from four to ten of these initiatory measures are born at the approach of each general election.

Direct legislation has had a fair test. It has been tried in season and out of season; it has produced none of the benefits claimed by its sponsors; it is costing the producers of the State a million dollars a year and is hampering seriously the development of our resources and industries. It is not time for our chambers of commerce and other commercial and industrial associations in California to turn their attention to opposing these legislative weeds that threaten to choke with their rank growth the commercial and industrial life of the State.

THE RAILWAY CRISIS.

The Newlands Joint Committee of Inquiry into the existing railway situation, recommended by President Wilson and authorized by Congress, invited leading economists, representatives of important business interests, representatives of the labor unions and others, including representatives of the railroads, to present their views upon this subject.

The railways have accepted this invitation and through the Railway Executives Advisory Committee under date of November 22 they have made response. They suggest certain changes that should be made in the present system in the interest of shippers, consumers and investors, as well as of the railways themselves. The railroads do not oppose sensible regulation or supervision but claim that the present system of regulation is defective, complicated, wasteful and unduly burdensome for both the public and the carriers. Some of these are:

(1.) The existing dual system of regulation (Federal and State) makes the railroads subject not to one master, but to forty-nine. Railway transportation in the United States has become a matter of national and not merely of local importance.

The railroads, therefore, favor the placing of regulation in the control of Federal tribunals which will act fairly in behalf of all the States.

(2.) The railroads feel that the functions now exercised by the Interstate Commerce Commission should be separated to bring them into conformity with our scheme of government. The duties of director, prosecutor and judge should be set apart from purely administrative duties and assigned to other governmental departments or agencies.

(3.) Many of the existing laws relating to railway regulation (and this applies especially to State laws) are primarily punitive and restrictive. They were enacted to punish the railroads for actual or alleged past wrongdoing. The difference in spirit and purpose between our railway laws and,

A Reminder.

HITS AND MISSES BY OTHER PAPERS.

Johnson Did It.

[Salt Lake City Herald-Republican:] Ernest as its cogs may, the efficiency of the Tammany State machine is too well understood throughout the nation to doubt what it did, or could have done had the chief machinist so willed. Johnson has spent the years of his Governorship in perfecting a tool-proof, seal-tight-proof, indictment-proof organization that holds California as tightly as Tammany ever held New York.

The Milk was Sour.

[St. Paul Pioneer Press:] "smell the stars," writes Miss Amy Lowell, a poetess. Election excitement probably had caused the Milky Way to curdle.

Where Everything is Cheap.

[Detroit Free Press:] A western woman is said to have offered to give a ranch hand two cows if he would kill her husband. Evidently she didn't think very much of the cow, either.

The Danger Confronting Us.

[Philadelphia Inquirer:] Every government is going in for protective tariffs. At the time when England, Germany, France and all the rest of the bigwigs are getting ready to re-establish business on a tremendous scale and take from us through commerce the gold that we have accumulated, a theoretical government at Washington insists upon a near free-trade law which will close our mills to our industries and send away more than 200,000 workers to the bread line and free soup kitchens. That is the great danger that confronts us.

The Gentler Sex.

[Baltimore American:] As the feminists breaking of records is in order just now, it may be pertinent to admit in competition the career of a young woman from New York who was married at 15, a widow at 18, a bride for the second time at 19, and who is now in jail for shooting her second husband, her waist on going there proving to be an arsenal stocked with a revolver, cartridges and a stiletto. And yet custom and tradition still call it the gentler sex.

Watch Canada's Experiment.

[New York Telegram:] In Canada combination to increase the price of necessities of life, which include food, clothing, fuel and materials for manufacture, is now a criminal offense punishable by $1000 for two years imprisonment. It is made an offense also to limit facilities for the transportation, production, manufacture, storage and merchandising of such necessities. This is a war measure. Even in time of peace in this country we have somewhat similar laws to prevent trusts or the booking of places by combinations. But the laws don't work. Canada's experiment will be watched with interest.

Western Political Slang.

[Chicago Evening Post:] The West still keeps at its job of providing us with picturesque political slang. Along the river City the dry vine produced adjectives describing its various conditions, and of these the absolute teetotal prohibition extreme is succinctly known as a "bone-dry" law. To the western eye nothing could be much drier than the parched bone beans on the arid plains. To the plains, also, the western goes for a label for their lawns and gardens, even he considers eccentrically radical. He calls them "crazy-houses."

We must look to the West with even greater respect than ever since its political emergence of Tuesday, November 7. We must begin to learn its language in the dim, far-off hope of making New York understand it better.

Wise Judge Guy.

[Syracuse Post-Standard:] Justice Guy of New York has made a new and suggestive ruling in a divorce case. He assesses the cost against the correspondent.

The correspondent usually gets off easy. He receives some uneventful notoriety. He suffers in reputation—sometimes, but not in pocket, and not in personal popularity. His conduct, the bystander necessary to the judicial process, who expects as his share in the case only a verbal chastisement from the judge and a license with any other man.

In fact, papa can be quite an alarming responsibility and many a nicely brought-up maiden finds it difficult to maintain a strictly modest, innocent, maidenly attitude under the wise Judge Guy's name.

He thinks it is all right, so perhaps it is—and yet...

It is this kind of papa could hear what the debonair really think of him, it would be highly illuminating.

Sometimes, if his house is a jolly one to visit, they keep their opinions to themselves, especially if his daughters are their best friends. But they know him well enough while he is facts the privileges of promiscuous kissing for himself, he would be the first to sternly rebuke them for any such license with any other man.

In fact, papa can be quite an alarming responsibility and many a nicely brought-up maiden finds it difficult to maintain a strictly modest, innocent, maidenly attitude under the wise Judge Guy's name.

He thinks it is all right, so perhaps it is—and yet...

It is this kind of papa who leads the reform movements against dancing in cafes, who considers it unmanly to smoke cigarettes who is fond of declaring "I love my son not a pride." I am the father of two daughters, however, and I cannot bear being shamed in the social activities of modern times.

He is quick to scent evil everywhere, to believe the worst of his fellow man, to damn the character of any woman who has had the temerity to snub him for his paternal license, and who would divorce his wife if she maintained a strictly modest and complimented all the young men that come to the house to do the dishes.

Yes, there are a good many of that kind of papa about. But there are also plenty of the right kind of papa who do not exact special privileges with daughter's friends who are content to treat them as they would wish other papas to treat their daughters. That is why plays remain popular with all.

The report that Mrs. Beiva Lederwood has just retired from the practice of the law in the District of Columbia recalls the fact that she is in her 88th year and was the candidate of the Woman's Equal Rights party for President in 1908. JUSTICE.
Beside the nation's fair unfurled
The stern and starry goddess stands,
And lifts above a breathless world
The balance in her hands.

Drawn from all empires round her heat,
Blood red, earth's pulsing arteries
As on these wide shores circulate
The waters of all seas.

She turns to the cerulean skies
Her stolid vision and serene,
With eyes blindfold to 'gread and
Bee
All things low and mean.

Unbinding to the weak or strong,
Unheeding peas or parties' plights
She weighs the right against the wrong
And holds her sword to smite.

O stony Justice, undismayed, Aeons steadfast guard above the land,
Whose deeds are in the balance
wreathed
Before thy sworded hand!

LITERALLY.

When the two coaches instructed their respective teams to go into the game and fight, they never dreamed that they were being taken literally. The two teams, however, did stand still; individual members did their best to follow the lead of their coaches; the rooting sections caught each other and attempted to clean each other, and the most terrible officials became limited and hatched up a little scrap among themselves.

FUND CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE.German Relief Committee is Grateful for Aid.*Indifference Fund Still to Swell City's Gift.*Cafe Bristol Supper Monday Night the Climax.*Yesterday was a happy day of Thanksgiving for the hundreds of southern Californians who have contributed liberally to the German Relief Fund. Early this morning General Judah sent to Ambassador Gerard a check draft for $15,000, the entire amount collected up to Wednesday night.*Manager-Wing, in the name of the committee, and their grateful appreciation to all who have contributed either time or money to the cause. The members of the committee have worked indefatigably since the inception of the campaign to sustain their labors until Monday night. Chairman Kerckhoff of the Subscription Committee is congratulated on the excellent work he has accomplished. Mrs. Kerckhoff was decorated with the Achievement Committee, turned in more than $2000, which she secured by personal endeavor.*Mr. Randolph Huntington Miner, chairman of the Achievement Committee, said yesterday her interest in the work was not alone inspired by her sympathy for the helpless sufferers of Germany, but that beautiful woman who had been treated so royally. Other workers deserving of special mention for their zeal are Mrs. J. M. Stoddard of Hollywood and Secretary Burnham of the committee, who have given their services in the forefront of every charitable undertaking in Los Angeles.*Executives of the German Relief Fund invite the public to participate in the big supper at the Cafe Bristol on Monday evening, at the close of the campaign.*Immediately after the Monday night performance of "Intolerance" there will be a special supper in the Attic Room in the cafe at First and Spring streets, where a large reserved section will await the diners. German dishes of appealing character will be on the special menu, and a special arrangement with Proprietor Schneider, half price will be charged.*The object of the supper attended by many prominent Los Angeles persons is not only for entertainment and to make further profits for the fund.*Mrs. E. G. Judah, Treasurer, No. 431 West Spring street.*Included please find my subscription to California Thanksgiving Offering for Germanic widows and orphans to be sent to Ambassador Gerard for distribution.Yours truly,.....*Smash-up.*GUESTS MEET GRIEF.*New Car Conveying Dinner Party of Four to Holiday Feast is Capsized in Rounding a Corner; Two Severe Scratches Hurt.*One motor load of Thanksgiving goods met disaster in traffic yesterday. Pasadena Thoroughly Enjoys Thanksgiving.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)
PASADENA, Dec. 1.—In the belief that there is a reaction against the moving picture, a group of business and professional men and club women in Pasadena are proposed to erect a municipal theater. The Women's Civic League, founded by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette and other women leaders, is the first organization to manifest a desire to build the enterprise. At the request of the league, Gilmore Brown, leading man in a stock company at the Savoy Theater, will explain some of the doings of the movement at the association's luncheon at noon Monday at the Maryland.

The support given to the stock company by persons of all classes in Pasadena is taken as an index to the interest. Pasadena is interested in the legitimate drama. Most of the members of the stock company are residents of Pasadena and it is regarded as a home institution. Mr. Brown has lived in Pasadena for years.

Mr. Brown, because of his high

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)

SAN DIMAS, Nov. 26.—Wide interest is being manifested here in the tentative proposal to call a special election in the county early in the year to vote on the issuing of $4,000,000 for flood control purposes. Should the election carry San Dimas will at once become the center of activities of the engineering corps of the county flood control board, who already have in their possession complete plans for a mammoth dam across San Dimas Canyon. For First Time Wives are Permitting to Sit Down to the Big Table in Home and Both Participate in Bountiful Feed Provided for Them.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOLDIERS HOME, Nov. 20.—Today was, among aged veterans at this place, a Thanksgiving Day to be long remembered, especially by those having wives who reside with them. For the first time in the history of this home (or, indeed, of any other branch of the National Home), wives were through the courtesy of the president of Gen. P. H. Barry, governor, and with approval of the local manager, Col. H. R. Markham, accorded the privilege of sharing in the bountiful meal companying the Home's Thanksgiving feast.

Almost 200 of these aged women, occupying humble dwellings in Sausalito, were invited to the bountiful meal in which their husbands are permitted—though members of the Home—to sit by side at the bountiful Thanksgiving table. The menu, as prepared by J. P. Meyer, chef of the main kitchen, consisted of roast turkey, dressing, white cranberry sauce, celery, baked sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, green peas, pumpkin pie, layer cake, cheese, apples, banana, assorted candies, fresh bread, coffee.

An orchestra, conducted under the direction of Capt. William Osterman, leader of the Home band, assisted to the enjoyment of the entertainment. The following was the programme: March, "A Soldier's Dream" (Jacobs); overture, "Light Cavalry" (Suppe); selection, "Gem of Stephen Foster"; Macchie; "The Devil and Tom Walker"; finale, "Uncle Dooly's Delight" (Loosey).

Thanksgiving services, in both Protestant and Catholic chapels, attracted large attendance. Both chapels included in the service programmes of special music, suitable to the occasion. The afternoon was devoted to visiting the part of the town occupied by officers that invaded the Home, and a day of genuine enjoyment had its finale in a band concert and moving-picture entertainment in Memorial Hall in the evening.

Fatten Institution Gives Thanksgiving Meal to Twenty-six Hundred and Thirty People—all had All the Turkey He or She Could Eat.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 20.—The biggest Thanksgiving dinner to be served in the State today occurred at the Fatten Institution, San State Hospital at Fatten this noon when 2600 people sat down to a monster spread arranged annually by the State for its biggest institution. The menu that Chef Tom Wells prepared:

Thirty-five hundred pounds of turkey.

Eighteen cases of oysters for dressing.

Thirty-four cases of canned corn.

Three hundred pounds of potatoes.

Two cases of celery.

Seven hundred pounds of lettuce.

Sixty boxes of apples.

Four hundred loaves of bread.

Two hundred and ten gallons of milk.

One hundred and ten gallons of coffee.

CHANGE NAMES OF ARMED CRUISERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 20.—Three armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet and one of the Atlantic fleet had their names changed at midnight to night in conformity with a recent order of the Navy Department.

The cruiser Maryland en route to the port from Guaymas, Mex., will be known henceforth as the Frederick; the Colorado, due here soon from Bremerton, Wash., will be the Franklin; and the Arkansas at San Luis, Cris., Mex., will be the Huntington. The cruiser Washington at Norfolk, Va., will be renamed the Seattle. The State has sent word to give the super-dreadnaughts now under construction or authorized.

DIES AT PORTERVILLE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 20.—III but four days with a lobar pneumonia, Franklin G. Randle, a healthy, ornate young man of Alhambra, died at local hospital late this afternoon, aged 72 years. Mr. Randle came here from Southern California last week to give his attention to his property in the Plano district, south of here. He contracted the disease which caused his death by remaining in his severe case of colds and owing to his advanced age, the resulting chill brought on the fatal attack.

Mr. Randle was born in Bellville, Ohio, and came to the state of Southern California for fifty-seven years. The body was sent this evening to Alhambra for interment.

White Woman Who Marries

Petitions Court to Compel a Property Transfer.

Question of Naturalization is Unusual.

The question whether a white woman who marries a Japanese can land in California will be tested in Judge York's court January 20, when the petition of Ida May Taniguchi and Philo Gilpin Forsythe comes before the court in manus- pectus proceedings to compel a transfer of property from Mr. Forsythe to Mrs. Taniguchi.

While there are two other cases involving the question of ownership of land in California, this is the first instance of the white woman and the alien claiming the right to own property in the State. The matter has been before the court since the transfer of the property, which is held in the name of the wife, cannot be transferred to the husband. As there are two other cases involving the question of ownership of land in California, this is the first instance of the white woman and the alien claiming the right to own property in the State. The matter has been before the court since the transfer of the property, which is held in the name of the wife, cannot be transferred to the husband.

Both parties inclined to the view that the wife should be made an American citizen.

CREEDS FORGOTTEN IN UNION SERVICES HERE.

Fervent Words of Thanks for Infinite Mercies Uttered Yesterday from Score of City's Pulpits—Make Each Day One of Thanksgiving, Says Immanuel Presbyterian Pastor at Temple Baptist Church.

CREEDS were forgotten in devout homage to the Infinite One yesterday, as congregations joined in union services in a score of the city's churches.

At the Temple Baptist Church Rev. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, preached on, "Where are the Nine?" taking his text from Luke 17:17. He said in part:

"Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine? These nine men have had a prolific number of descendants. One might suppose that they had made an agreement to make a pilgrimage to heaven and popularize it with a race of people who would banish from their vocabulary all words representing appreciation. Plate says there are four forms of spirituality producing regeneration, poetry and love. This Samaritan who had the grace to come back said to 'Thank you' had the fourth form. We cannot all be prophets, or inspired writers, but there is a way to fame is open—the man who cannot be an Isaiah or a St. John or a Shakespeare can be a lover."

"The imagination as best we can, the several reasons why the nine men did not come back. The first may have been callous; No. 2 perhaps was pride; No. 3, perhaps was prostrating; No. 4 was forgetful; No. 5 was forgetful; No. 6 was gregarious; No. 7 was independent; No. 8 was philistine."

"The men are before us, and each of us may ask, Which one am I? Better be the lone Samaritan than the comfortable crowd. The world was not built by the lone man yet who was injured by being thanked. Let us have Thanksgiving not only one day in the year, but Thanksgiving every day."

ATLINGTON HEIGHTS.

Rev. Frank W. Otto, preaching at the Harvard Heights United Presbyterian Church, for the United Atlington Heights congregations took for his text the first verse of the one hundred and second psalm which gave a history of Thanksgiving Day and made three points in his sermon.

"Man should," said he, "be thankful to God that he is made for the freedom of mind with which he is endowed and he should be thankful for the fact that he can use his intellectual faculties in the right manner."

UNION SQUARE DISTRICT.

Towards the Sun-rising" was the title of the sermon by Rev. George A. Andrews at the Magnolia-avenue Christian Church for the congregations of Union Square.

"We must travel through the wilderness," said he, "towards the rising sun. There are three wildernesses which we must surely pass in our march. These are the political, the spiritual and the material. America, though her great wealth and manifold industries, does not become self-satisfied."

Benevolent.

THANKSGIVING IS MADE CHEERFUL FOR HOMELESS

A T A SCORE of benevolent or semi-benevolent institutions Thanksgiving cheer was spread yesterday for the homeless, or those temporarily so. It was an outpouring of good things in the name of the opulent Southland.

Perhaps the largest dinner affair of the day was the one tendered by the faculty of the Bible Institute to the students and their families. More than 250 guests were seated at this event. The dinner was served from 1 to 2 o'clock in the institute dining-room. Dr. R. A. Torrey, dean of the Bible Institute and pastor of the Church of the Open Door, presided at the dinner. Rev. John H. Hunter, secretary of the faculty, spoke to the assemblage on behalf of the institution. Numerous responses were made by representatives of the student body of the institute.

The Mexicans and Portuguese of the city who were unable to partake of the general Thanksgiving dinner through their respective missions were taken care of by the district mission of the Bloom-street Methodist Church. Several family dinner banquets were sent out also by the mission, which cared for more than 260 persons.

An entertainment was given at the Queen's Daughters' Settlement, 2125 South Broadway, this afternoon, for more than 225 children. The affair was under the direction of Mrs. C. Frank McGrath, Mrs. John and Mrs. George Coyne. Following the entertainment the children were provided with substantial refreshments.

The boys and girls who are under the care of the Volunteers of America, ate a turkey dinner yesterday afternoon, according to usual custom.

The East Fifth-street Methodist Mission sent out more than forty baskets on Wednesday to needy families. Each basket contained food enough to furnish a simple dinner for four persons.

The Y.W.C.A. celebration yesterday consisted of a dinner by the members of the Y.W.C.A. Club to sixty young women who are members of the association and are away from their homes. Following the dinner a play, "Honor Bound," was presented in the auditorium. Scattered throughout the city were numerous other Thanksgiving celebrations of smaller scope.

At the Union Mission, No. 206 Washington Avenue, a Thanksgiving service was conducted yesterday evening. Samuel Swenson related his experiences as a Christian in the service of his country.
